Time

I invest my time in building my relationship with God and others, managing my time according to God's priorities.

First Steps

Take the first 5 minutes of your day and spend it with God. Do the same before you go to bed. Determine one non-productive activity that you can give up during the week, and use the time to read about a spiritual topic or write a note of encouragement to someone in your life.

Next Steps

Before the week begins, look at your calendar and find a way to spend 1 extra hour this week in service to the church or a mission connected with the church. If you spend time in a car, listen to sermons, Christian music, or Christian books on tape.

Continuing

Identify 1 person or opportunity currently in your life that needs your time and attention. Offer yourself with a servant's heart, and do anything within reason that is asked of you.
